

Couldn't make it to Boutique Design in NY this year?
 The show was a total smash and we exhibited several new products.
 So, what exactly is new?
 Take a look at the highlights in the video below.

We released our brand new series of touch-free concealed electronic flush valves for WC. The Nara 3002 and the Noble 3032 are operated by a self-adjusting infrared sensor with the additional benefit of a piezo touch or mechanical override flush activator button for the anti-block feature and what's more all models are ADA compliant and are certified by standards ASSE 1037-1990 and CSA B125.3-2012.

We also presented the new Stern Bluetooth App which allows users to customize all of the adjustable functions in our complete touch-free sanitary range directly from any mobile device. The App not only provides the user with greater flexibility, but the user can also use the app to copy all of the adjustable settings from one Stern product to another, without the need to manually customize each product individually with the remote.

Also exhibited at the show, the Ever Hand Dryer, our newest addition to the Ever Series. The complete set is available in a variety of finishes and includes a matching touch-free deck mounted faucet and automatic soap dispenser. This lavatory mounted trio is the perfect addition to the Stern family of full series' products currently providing soap water and air in automated commercial washrooms across the globe.

For release dates in your country of the products mentioned above or more information on any other Stern products please contact your Sales Manager directly.
